With an out-of-the-box deployment, PCLender customers can easily offer Blend's digital, innovative borrower experience

RENO, Nev. – January 25, 2017 – PCLender, the most advanced provider of internet-based mortgage solutions for community banks and credit unions, today announced an enhanced integration with Blend, a Silicon Valley technology company bringing mortgages into the modern age.

As a result of the partnership, lenders who work with PCLender will be able to easily deploy Blend's platform creating an end-to-end digital mortgage experience that excites customers and streamlines lender workflows while reducing risk and ensuring compliance. Blend's advanced technology integrates seamlessly with PCLender's loan origination system (LOS) to ensure rapid deployment and quick time to value while reducing the number of systems a lender must work in.

"We're dedicated to providing our customers with the industry's top technology solutions, so teaming up with Blend was a natural next step," said Lionel Urban, CEO of PCLender. "Blend's platform is modernizing the mortgage lending experience and through this integration, we're proud to enable our lenders to offer their customers a more compelling and efficient borrower experience."

The integration with Blend continues this legacy, linking PCLender's total mortgage solution to Blend's innovative borrower and lender experiences powered by sophisticated rules, direct-from-source validated data and comprehensive audit logs. Lenders can now truly provide consumers with an end-to-end digital mortgage experience that is borrower-, lender-, and compliance-friendly.

"At Blend, we're building technology that reinvents home lending from the ground up," said Nima Ghamsari, CEO & co-founder of Blend.
